

Oasis High school is establishing eSports teams. eSports stands for electronic sports and is much more than just playing video games. It is a program that helps students participate in an organized competitive gameplay between teams with its own strict set of rules and regulations. The goals of eSports after school clubs are to help students improve their collaboration, teamwork, strategic thinking, and communications skills. There are currently more than 250 colleges across the nation that offer full scholarships for eSports. I understand that these games can be of a mature nature.
